

"Transforming to Success"

"Welcome to Your Future"

Are you controlling your business or is your business controlling you?

There is no absolute answer to the above question. In order to survive and grow, there must be a mixture of both in today's business environment. The real problem is determining when to use each segment to produce positive results. This is where Metamorphosis Management Consulting (MMC) can assist you in keeping an open mind which will enable you to leverage the positive aspects of both directions at the proper time.

Are you viewing your business as a bunch of independent functional areas or as an integrated system consisting of many sub systems?

There are advantages and disadvantages of both views. MMC will assist you in identifying the positive aspects of each view and help you implement them successfully to enhance your operations.

Does your company need to experience change?

Where are you today? Where do you want to be tomorrow? How can you get there? What will it take to make the leap? How can continuous success be achieved?

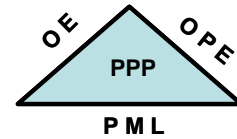

It is at your finger tips! You just have to do some forward thinking and then implement the new strategy using a well defined transformation plan. A company without "planned change" is a dying company. Thus, the areas of Management, Manpower, Machinery, Materials, Methods, and Money require an assessment of integration to maximize positive results. Success comes from sound Situational Analysis, Planning, Design, Implementation, Results Assessment, Change Control, Continuous Improvement, and Knowledge Management.

Metamorphosis Management Consulting (MMC) can assist your organization to achieve your future goals and dreams. MMC will guide your organization in assessing and addressing the abilities, strengths, and growth areas of your personnel base – the source of potential and passion for your future. MMC will assist you to optimize your present organization structure, policies, procedures, and guidelines – effectiveness. MMC will help identify improvements in your production, service, and administrative processes – efficiency enhancements. Also, through Project Management Leadership, MMC will assist you in implementing and measuring impact of the defined changes to smoothly and quickly transform your firm to your future strategic dreams and goals – unleashing the potential.

Your path to your future dreams and goals will be addressed via four avenues:

- Personnel Potential & Passion (PPP)
- Organizational Effectiveness (OE)
- Operational Process Efficiency (OPE)
- Project Management Leadership (PML)

You have the choice of addressing specific areas, combinations, or implementing a total solution. This will allow you to develop your strategic future plans that will provide the path for your transformation to success.

Considerations:

A key element in being successful in today's business environment is establishing, maintaining, and achieving advanced levels of Project Management in your firm. MMC can help you in all these areas, plus provide the necessary training in creating a solid knowledge base in project management methodology.

Change is an essential element for growth and life. Once a successful change program is developed, it needs to be constantly reviewed to address changes in the business environment, and it must be constantly reinforced and monitored so that it will become an element of the organization's culture to ensure success and longevity of the organization. MMC provides you with the flexibility of obtaining expertise when it is required and only for the duration that is required.

MMC also offers a comprehensive network of consultants that will enable a firm to address all and every business need.

So no matter if your business strategy is to build your firm into a major, thriving corporation or to position it for a future sell-off, let MMC help you to develop the strongest possible business.
